

Our Donor Bill of Rights

Philanthropy is based on voluntary action for the common good. It is a tradition of giving and sharing that is primary to the quality of life. To assure that philanthropy merits the respect and trust of the general public, and that donors and prospective donors can have full confidence in Saint Paul School of Theology, we declare that all donors have these rights:

To be informed of Saint Paul's mission, of the way the organization intends to use donated resources, and of its capacity to use donations effectively for their intended purposes.

To be informed of the identity of those serving on Saint Paul's governing board, and to expect the board to exercise prudent judgment in its stewardship responsibilities.

To have access to Saint Paul's most recent financial statements.

To be assured their gifts will be used for the purposes for which they were given.

To receive appropriate acknowledgment and recognition.

To be assured that information about their donations is handled with respect and with confidentiality to the extent provided by law.

To expect that all relationships with individuals representing Saint Paul to the donor will be professional in nature.

To be informed whether those seeking donations are volunteers, employees of Saint Paul or hired solicitors.

To have the opportunity for their names to be deleted from mailing lists that Saint Paul may intend to share.

To feel free to ask questions when making a donation and to receive prompt, truthful and forthright answers.
